The fraud charged by the government was based on Browder's allegedly false statements in connection with the issuance of the passport in his real name, and the use of this passport.

Browder apparently was taken by surprise by the swift move of the grand jury. Under subpoena to testify, he had gone to the federal building and was waiting in an ante-room when the indictment was returned.

here, sought to learn whether the people favor a Nazi onslaught on the western front or purely defensive operations there while the German navy and air force redoubles its activities tightening the counter-blockade against the Allies.

French diplomatic and military leaders said they expected Hitler to make his decision this week, probably after he learns the outcome of the Soviet-Finnish negotiations in Moscow and obtains clarification as to how far he can count on Russian and Italian support.

Strategy If He Attacks.

If Hitler decides to open a fullforce offensive against the Allies, it is believed in French circles that he will follow a three-point plan of strategy:

1. A virtual blockade of the British Isles by submarine and air attacks in an effort to cut off incoming shipping.

2. A terrific aerial and artillery bombardment of the Maginot line on the western front, testing the Nazi theory that Germany's big

MOSCOW, Oct. 23.—(AP) Tass, Soviet Russian news agency, reported tonight that a German crew had seized the United States ship City of Flint and brought her into Kola bay under the Nazi flag as a prize under German contraband regulations.

The Russian port of Murmansk is on Kola bay.

for cargo examination.) (The Maritime Commission received a report in Washington that the ship, boarded by a prize crew from a German naval vessel, was taken Saturday to Tromso, Norway, under the German flag. From that port, this report said, the ship departed late Saturday after-

RUSSELL TO SPEAK FOR ARMS REPEAL

Georgia's Junior Senator Is Willing, However, To End Debate Now.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS, WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—While not anxious to prolong unduly de-bate on the pending neutrality bill, Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia, revealed here today that Wednesday next he will dres the upper chamber, giving his reasons for supporting the administration's drive for repeal of the embargo on arms and munitions of war.

This will be the first expression of opinion by the junior senator from the state since he announced at San Francisco, on his way home from Hawaii, early this month that he would support the embargo repealists.

The Georgian feels that the senate has just about exhausted all arguments both for and against revising existing neutrality law and he is about ready to join the up-per chamber's leadership in limiting debate if it becomes apparent that opponents of repeal are engaging in a filibuste

Senator Walter F. George, Russell's senior colleague, a member of the foreign relations committee which drafted the bill now under discussion, has been importuned by Democratic leaders to lend his voice to the repealists, but because of a major operation on his eyes shortly after the regular session of the congress adjourned, he has to engage in vigorous debate. Earlier in the senate floor discussion he had thought of answering the veteran senator, William Borah, Idaho, one of the leaders of the "isolationist" forces, but after consulting his eye specialist he was advised not to attempt it. He has, program committee, and Grady however, come out for repeal of Pugh, chairman of the order comthe embargo.

MOSCOW'S ENVOY

New Trend Foreseen in Russo-United States Relations as a Result.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 .- (UP) The impending return of Soviet Ambassador Constantine Oumansky to his post here after an un-explained absence of three months may signal a new trend in Russo-United States relations, some quarters believed tonight.

The popular young envoy's de-parture from Moscow, scheduled late this month, sets at rest fears of his friends here that he had been "liquidated" but leaves open to speculation the reason why he was called home.

The answer, some observers be-lieve, lies in Russia's new and rapidly evolving diplomatic offensive which has brought three Bla-tic states into her orbit, threatened to engulf Finland before President Roosevelt intervened, and has allied the Soviet Union with Nazi Germany commercially and in the division of Poland. The pursuance of such a policy it is pointed out, could alienate the friendship of the United States, as reflected in Mr. Roosevelt's agitation over the Finnish episode and it is guessed that Oumansky is returning to delineate and clarify his government's aims. Oumansky is considered one of the ablest diplomats in the Russian service despite his comparative youth. He is only 38. Before becoming counsellor of the em-bassy here in 1936 he was a newspaperman. He succeeded Troyanovsky last May midst persistent, but later disapproved, reports, that the former ambassador had been "purged."

Similar unfounded fears were held for Oumansky when, a month after he returned to Moscow, nothing had been heard from him, al-though he presumably was in touch with his pretty young wife

The Soviet embassy said tonight that it had received no official word from Oumansky but that it is understood he will return shortly.

Rivers Wants To Determine If Inspector Mann, Who Asks for Hearing, Was Negligent in Case.

A joint hearing by Governor Rivers and the State Penal Board to investigate the escape of Life-Termer Richard G. Gallogly yesterday was rescheduled for Tuesday, October 31.

The hearing had been postponed to avoid a conflict in Texas proceedings at which Governor W. Lee O'Daniel ordered the return of Gallogly to Georgia to resume serving a life sentence for an Atlanta holdup slaying 11 years ago. After four days of freedom, Gallogly surrendered at Dallas, Texas.

Rivers said the purpose of the hearing would be to determine whether there was any negligence on the part of Chief Inspector Roy-al K. Mann, of the penal board, and two guards from whom Gallogly escaped, Robert A. Matthews and Joe Freeman.

With resetting of the hearing date, Mann issued a statement saying: "Ever since the matter came up I have been ready and waiting for a full and thorough public hearing on my suspension. When a postponement was necessary, I asked that a new date be set as early as possible."

Mann, Matthews and Freeman have been suspended pending a hearing and Matthews has been charged in warrants with aiding, the escape.

He referred caustically to the many lectures "at so much per" which Nye has made throughout

2,500 MILL WORKERS GET WAGE INCREASE

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. ROME, Ga., Oct. 23.—All em-cloyes of the Pepperell Manufacturing Company at Lindale received a 5 per cent wage increase, effective today, Manager R. D. Harvey announced. The mill, one of the largest such units in the south, employs approximately 2,500 persons.

The company could reduce wages of its employes to 32½ cents an hour, with time-and-half-time for over 42 hours of duty and still meet provisions of the wage and hour law, Mr. Harvey stated. Instead, however, not only will all ampleyes now making less than $13 employes now making less than $13 a week for 40 hours be brought up to this amount, but all those earning over that amount will get a straight 5 per cent raise.

Governor Long Guarded Fearing Counter Coup; Grab Occurs on Day of Gubernatorial Deadline.

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 23.-(A)-Armed men-often a factor in the coups of Huey Long-reappeared dramatically in the Louisiana political scene today when Governor Earl K. Long's troopers swiftly seized the offices of two state officials.

Governor Long maintained the never-a-dull-moment tradition in state politics by striking at Attorney General David M. Ellison and First Assistant Attorney General James O'Connor only a few hours before the midnight dead-line on qualifications for next January's gubernatorial primary.

The final day found seven candidates in the lists, all except Long pledged to break the 10-year hold of the machine built by the spectacular, tactics of the slain "Kingfish" Long.

"Illegally" in Office.

Governor Long announced he was removing Ellison and O'Connor because he had discovered they were holding office "illegal-ly." Ellison qualified yesterday to run for attorney general against City Attorney Francis Burns, of New Orleans, named for the post on the administration ticket which Long heads.

Long named Second Assistant Attorney General Lessley Gardiner to succeed Ellison.

Brigadier General Louis F. Guerre, commandant of the state patrol, directed six troopers at onday seizure of Ellison's office in the latter's absence and the attorney general had not been reached tonight for comment.

Police "Protect."

Other troopers took over O'Con-nor's office in New Orleans and New Orleans' police were "protecting" the office of District Attorney Charles A. Byrne there. Later today the force at Ellison's office was increased to eight men and four troopers came to the executive mansion as a special guard, indicating Long feared a possible counter-coup. Last week grand jurors charged

Among those qualified to seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination-equivalent to election in Louisiana—was Sam H. Jones, Lake Charles attorney, already singled out for special criticism by the administration standard-

The decision to do something to entertain and honor old maids, and to help batter down superstition about these people who are happier than most but don't get credit for it, was inspired by the open-ing here Thursday of Bette Davis' new picture, "The Old Maid." Miss Davis devotes her considerable talents in this picture to portraying an old maid and her romantic, near-tragic struggle for happiness.

Roads Operate Over 2,000 Miles; Merger First in Several Years.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 .- (AP)-The Interstate Commerce Com-mission, authorizing the first major railroad merger in several years, approved today a union of the Mobile & Ohio and the Gulf, Mobile & Northern railroads.

The two railroads operate more than 2,000 miles. No abandonment of mileage is contemplated. The Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, a Mississippi corporation formed a year ago, will operate the combining properties. The commission said the merger "will be in harmony with and in furtherance of this commission's plan for the consolidation of railway properties, and will promote the public interest."

Principal opponent of the plan was the Illinois Central railroad. The commission said, "It is evident that a major part of the losses feared by the Illinois Central has been accomplished by the diver-sion of Gulf, Mobile & Northern traffic to the Mobile & Ohio at Jackson, Tenn., and it may be that the Illinois Central is unduly in a reasonable length of time "I can become less active, and go fishing occasionally."

Mr. Jagels, a native New Yorker, graduated from Lehigh University in 1922, and was given his first job at Macy's by Mr. Kline. After a training and selling period he became an assistant buyer, then a department manager, then assistant to an executive vice president, and later the buyer of the men's clothing departments. In 1930 he became merchandise councillor of Macy's entire men's store, and in February, 1937, was promoted to the position of executive vice president in charge of the merchandising of children's wear, domesites and fabrics, men's wear, sporting goods and luggage.

Jagels Likes Atlanta.

He is 37, married, and the father of two children. He and his wife recently visited here, and according to Mr. Kline, "fell in love with the city as a place to make their home and are looking forward with pleasure and impatience to their arrival."

In announcing the appointment, Mr. Kline said he had learned a lesson from lawyers and doctors and had chosen a younger man to train for the responsibilities of his position, while he himself intended to ease off a little. He added he had been working for 41 years, since he was 12 years old. Twenty-six of those years have been with the same company.

ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 24, 1939.

Something to Remember

There is a domestic situation facing the people of the United States that, seemingly, has been largely forgotten in the excitement and emotionalism aroused by the outbreak of war in Europe. Yet, for the future safety of this country, and the form of government it upholds, it is essential this same situation be constantly realized by all of us.

That is, the dangerously large, and growing, national debt.

The national debt of the United States today, direct and contingent, exceeds $46,000,-000,000.

The annual national outgo, without allowing for increases, is greater than the national income. Thus the deficit is steadily growing. If that growth continues, it can result, in the final analysis, in only one thing. That is, national bankruptcy.

National bankruptcy may follow any one of various patterns. It may mean drastically depreciated currency, the result of an attempt to meet the final crisis by issuing printing press money. It may take the form of enforced repudiation of government obligations. This would mean the government bonds, now being issued as security for government loans from the banks which buy those bonds with our deposits, would be repudiated, unpaid. There are other debacles which could result from national bankruptcy.

It must never be forgotten that no one, individual, business corporation or government, can remain solvent forever, unless outgo balances income, or is held below the revenue total.

It should likewise be remembered that the annual expenditures of the government are, under wartime conditions, more apt to increase than to decrease. It is becoming more urgent, every day, that this country enlarge its expenditures for national defense. Increases in the navy, the army and the air force must be made, if America is to be safeguarded in a world of warring nations.

Increased expenditures thus seem to be inevitable. The only way in which eventual national bankruptcy can be averted is to make revenue equal, at least, to outgo. This means higher rates of taxation, for all of us.

Taxpayers of the United States might as well, it thus appears, resign themselves to heavier levies by the tax collectors. That is, if the American government and American democracy is not to be wrecked upon the rocks of financial insolvency.

Railroad Buying

Sharply increased railroad buying since the outbreak of the European conflict is reported as creating a boom in the equipment manufacturing business and the heavy industries which supply its materials.

According to a survey of the Chicago steel equipment manufacturing area, situated in the heart of the nation's rail empire, production is the highest since 1929, flushed by domestic and South American orders. The South American orders, it was pointed out, are coming to this country due to the inability of European manufacturers, especially those of Germany, to make deliveries.

Primarily responsible for the upswing is the $200,000,000 volume of orders which American railroads have released so far this year. A contributory factor is a $9,000,000 order placed by railroads in Brazil and Chile.

What all this means in terms of employment is seen in the fact that at the height of the boom days the railway equipment industry in Chicago employed more than 30,000 men and women. During the depression, when railroad orders dropped to a minimum, employment declined to 5,000. At the present time. more than 15,000 persons are employed, and the number is steadily increasing.

Herman J. Stegeman

Herman James Stegeman will be buried in Georgia soil today at Athens.

He had given almost 20 years of his life to the University of Georgia. His death early last Sunday morning brought to an end a life of great usefulness. Many Georgia-born citizens spend long lives in the state and never give to it the measure of devotion and lovalty which this Michigan-born man gave to his adopted state.

The life of a great teacher takes on real immortality. Herman Stegeman is dead. Yet all over Georgia, and in other states as well, there are young men and men grown into full maturity who remember Stegeman, who are better because of him and who have in their own lives some of his teaching.

Most of the stories of his death featured. as was proper, the account of his success as a coach in athletics, football and basketball.

Yet this part of his life was secondary to his real success. Every day there came to him boys, and even some of the girls entered as students in Georgia. They wanted advice, counsel and a sympathetic audience. They found all of these in Stegeman. Many a neartragedy of youth was avoided because of his assistance. Many a young career was saved and set on the straight path because of him.

He was a devoted husband and father, and he left to his splendid children a great heritage of honor, integrity and a stubborn will to keep trying, no matter what the odds.

He still was a young man when death took him. No one understands this early ending to a useful and needed life. Yet thousands of young men and women in Georgia know he gave untiringly of his life in those 20 years he served the university and its students. He was a worth-while and useful citizen.

Autos on Parade

Now has arrived that season of the year when all good Americans' fancy lightly turns to thoughts of new automobile models.

This week is auto show week in Atlanta. This city does not, like some other metropolii, gather the new model displays under one roof. Too great a crowd would probably result.

Instead, it converts the show rooms of the automobile dealers into one great automotive display and, something after the order of progressive bridge, or one of those progressive dinners, makes its inspection in installments.

The result is a comfortable opportunity to digest the beauties of each make without interruption, without confusion. There is no distraction from the business in hand, that of admiring, envying and figuring how to possess the particular new car you want.

This week, while the auto show rooms are inviting you to come, to see, to admire, take some spare evening and tour the complete auto row, without omitting any possible outlying stations. See them all, and, at your later leisure, make those comparisons you are going to make, anyway.

There are many innovations and improvements in the 1940 models. Men will be on hand at every dealer's show room to demonstrate and to explain. Attendants will be courteous, obliging and friendly. But there'll be no high-pressure salesmanship.

For this week is set aside as special show week and all the dealers want you to see all the cars. Later, after you have made a tentative selection, they'll be glad to talk prices and

But now is, pre-eminently, the time to look, to see and to admire. The show rooms will be open every night until 10 o'clock, and it's an opportunity not to be missed.

TOO AMBITIOUS A PLAN (From The Danville Register.)

The Pan-American conference at Panama apparently has performed a valuable function in increasing good will and creating a new sense of solidarity between the 21 republics of the western hemisphere, but its attempt to create a safety zone around the two continents, exclusive of Canada, probably will prove no more than a futile gesture. Not only is the plan to bar belligerent warships from a zone extending from one to three hundred miles off the coasts of the Americas without legal basis, but the plan lacks the essential quality to make it a success-enforcibility. It is admittedly impossible for the navy of the United States in co-operation with the small sea forces of the Latin-American republics to establish any effective patrol over the vast distances involved, and even if so, such a cordon would be ineffectual in the case of submarines. Practical difficulties include the fact that both Britain and France have numerous colonies among the Caribbean islands and on the mainland of South or Central America, and it was hardly to be expected that those countries would consent to any restrictions upon their free intercourse with their own colonies, or the establishment of naval es or carrying out any other wartime activities at those places. If the safety zone were made effective, it also would permit German ships now in refuge in American harbors to carry on a commerce between North and South American ports. Profits derived from such traffic, should Britain's economic blockade prevent them from being used directly for the benefit of Germany's war activities, would at least make the refugee fleet self-sustaining, and no small part would doubtless be employed in spreading pro-German propaganda within the American nations.

It is hardly to be expected that a British cruiser making its way toward a colonial port would allow a German ship that it encountered to pass immune from attack.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

ANOTHER MOUNTEBANK? WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—In one antic fortnight, it is already clear that, in the person of the Hon. A. B. "Happy" Chandler, junior senator from Kentucky, the senate has acquired another mounte-bank statesman, and Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, another heavy cross to bear.

"Happy" is unusually interesting, for, besides being an expert in mountebankery, he has more than a trace of the man of destiny. He is in the senate now because old Marvel M. Logan opportunely died, permitting Happy to resign as Governor of Kentucky and have his friend and successor, Lieutenant Governor Keen Johnson, name him to the Logan vacancy. He arrived in Washington with the entire government of his state, and it was beautiful to see the beneficiaries of Happy's political largesse gloating from the gallery as their former master was sworn in. It was also beautiful to hear that Happy's wife, the charming Mrs. Chandler, had intimated that old Senator Logan's demise was only another instance of an allseeing providence's interest in Happy's welfare.

MR. CHANDLER COMES TO TOWN Happy's first two weeks been replete with incident. No sooner did his train pull into Union station than a special courier appeared on the platform, urging him to attend at the senate at once in order to be able to vote for the administration on the Tobey resolution, separating repeal of the arms embargo from the cash-and-carry plan. He was led up the aisle to be sworn in by Barkley himself, the old enemy whose senate seat he had tried to take in the famous Kentucky primary of 1938.

Shortly thereafter, Brigadier General "Pa" Watson, genial secretary to the President, summoned Happy to the White House for an interview with the leader of his party. Happy no doubt remembered the last time he had enjoyed such an interview, when the President asked him to let Barkley alone. Then Happy told the President that it was "his time now," and, when the President suggested that he was over-young to hear fate whispering in his ear so loud, replied that he had heard of a rather young man running for the vice presidency once upon a time. At any rate, when the call to the White House came, Happy was a little nervous, and actually asked Barkley to accompany him and give him strength.

He and the President seem to have had a jolly visit, for Happy emerged with the announcement that he had opposed Barkley not from any personal feelings, but just because he wanted Barkley's job. At about the same time, he announced that he would vote with the administration on the arms embargo issue. A little after that, he made news by saying he wasn't just sure how he would vote, and now he has stated he would adhere to his first intention. Meanwhile, he has taken the chair in the senate, after which he told his friends that the other senators said he "did fine." He has triumphantly disclosed the President's approval for some WPA road projects. the misuse of which was his chief issue against Barkley. And finally, having declared he would not make a speech until he learned his way about the senate, he has jumped up during the neutrality debate to give vent to some loud platitudes about "American boys," and how they should not fall on foreign fields.

UPWARD WITH A SONG Altogether, having voted, spoken, talked for publication, grabbed a little pork, and visited the President and other points of interest in the city, Happy has compressed the experiences of most senators' first years in office into his first two weeks. There is no doubt about it; he is a go-getter.

His whole career proves that, for he is the son of a povertystricken postman in the magnificently named Pennyrile district of the Kentucky blue grass. He educated himself by titanic efforts, was a leader on his college campus, and became a lawyer with ease. Having become a lawyer, he also became a politician, singing his way upward through the ranks with renditions of "There's a Gold Mine in the Sky," a grand political theme song. When he arrived at the lieutenant governorship, he seized the opportunity of Governor Ruby Laffoon's absence from the state to call a special session to rewrite the primary laws to the disadvantage of the Laffoon machine. His own governorship and senatorship were the natural next steps.

Possibly Happy may not be a very significant figure. But at least he is entertaining, which is something in times like these. SILHOUETTES

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

HERMAN "JEROME" STEGEMAN His name was Herman James Stegeman. 20 years ago a college correspondent, seeing the middle initial, wrote the name Herman Jerome Stegeman. There was a Jerome K. Stegeman in the news at the time. The name stuck. It got to be a habit to speak of Herman Jerome Stegeman. Hundreds thought that his name.

Sunday morning Herman Stegeman died. His heart had failed one cold day last November at a football game on Grant field. They gave him a few hours to live and that only with the aid of oxygen He lived almost a year.

Much has been written of his success as a coach and as an a te. Something is being said of the more important phase of his life—that of his human relationship. He was a fine man, a great gentleman, a fond father and husband. He had a streak of stubrnness in him, along with the sentiment of him. That was from his Dutch ancestry.

He meant more to Georgia and the university than many nativeborn Georgians. He did more for the state and the university many natives of Georgia who have served it. Few men had the ability, the loyalty and the energy to give that was in him.

He gave 20 years of himself to Georgia. There are thousands of who will remember him and what he said and thought and did, long after what they saw on the pages of books and heard in classrooms is gone in forgetfulness. That part of his life gives him an immortality and therefore is more important than his touchdowns and the record of his teams.

In many long talks on long trips I think I got to know the man, and to appreciate him.

THE MEANING OF DEATH Death always is a mystery. The philosophers, great and small, have wondered at useful, splendid lives which are ended in their prime while some selfish, useless, and often vicous, life goes past the allotted years of threescore and ten.

Stegeman's death set me thinking again on an old subject." What has happened to football? And to athletics generally?

When men such as Herman Stegeman and Dan McGugin are made into "directors" or Deans of Men, so that "modern methods" and "big time pressure" may be put into college athletics, especially football, to what point have we come? And where are we headed?

It is perfectly apparent, as we look about, that football as we knew it 20 years ago, is not on the scene any more. The coaches of that period are about gone. The coaches of today are fine fellows, possessing ability and character. Yet they are realists. They have been hired to win football games. They know it. They must win or pack up and go. Out of this forced realism has emerged a game which technically is far superior to that produced by coaches of a by-gone era. Yet the game has lost much of its essential character. Time was when it actually did, if in the hands of a Stegeman, contribute something to the building of character.

The game today is a better game. It draws greater crowds. The players are more skilled. Yet we must, if honest, admit that the players are hired at so much per month; that they no longer represent just the university or students, but hotel owners, business' men, utilities and other organizations which have contributed money for the hiring of players. This is done honestly and, in many instances, without subterfuge or deception.

The point is, the game no longer is, with few exceptions, just a college game with a college coach interested in the college and its students in charge of the team. The demand has come to be, except at a half dozen or so institutions, for a "big time" team and a "winning coach." In only a few institutions is the coach a member of the faculty.

Georgia Tech, and her William 'Alexander, who has been kept' through storm and strife, is a unique example. There are a few others such. But very few. THE PASSING SHOW I have little patience with, say John L. Tunis whose recent "exposures" were intended to be so sensational. Of course professionalism exists in college football. Of course it exists in amateur tennis. We all That isn't at all the point. The point is, must football eliminate all the "Stegemans" from its future and make of itself a hard and fast realistic game in which all that matters is hiring the best players and a man who can make them into a great team. This is in no sense intended as a criticism of the majority of coaches today. Many of them all but break under the strain of trying to meet the demands for victory. Many of them grow heartily sick of the pressure. sick of the pressure.

If the colleges want that, as the general public does, then it is their choice. It is theirs to make. It is a superior game they've produced. It draws greater crowds. It's a pulse-stirring spectacle. The good team of today would beat the best team of 20 years ago by a huge score. It simply seems worth while to ask if the game is worth the candle. I think I know, but am not quite sure.

To Hit A Man While He Is Down Is to Ask For Trouble When He Gets Up

Vengeance is mine saith the Lord. Thousands of years have passed since that statement was first written, and individuals in civilized lands are at last learning to profit by it, but races and classes still find revenge too sweet to

Victors may forgive, if their triumph is complete and not too costly, but losers cannot. People can and do forgive wounds and property losses, but it isn't in human nature to forgive humiliation. Defeat itself is humiliating in any case, but the victor, blinded by war's hatred, usually imposes peace terms that shame and degrade past all forgiveness. When our own Civil War ended, the victorious north remembered its dead and took cruel revenge, yet its malice was so isfied and no trace of it now appears except in books and plays that ridicule the south of today. The south might have forgiven defeat as quickly if treated generously, but the shame and degradation of "reconstruction" left wounds that still rankle. Germany's easy victory in the Franco-Prussian war left nothing for her to forgive, but France was deeply hurt and shamed and her people never forget. To oldsters such as Clemenceau the World War was a war of revenge. France got even. The Versailles treaty which ended the World War was written in hate and inspired by the lust for revenge. The Germans were broken in spirit for years, and Hitler's rise was made possible by his promise of a vengeance that would restore Germany's might

The present war will turn the world upside down and make enormous changes in social and economic systems. However it ends, the victors will again yearn to impose a peace of vengeance. If they do, they will merely set the scenes for another war.

There can be no permanent peace, or anything more than a truce between wars, until there is a just, humane and tolerant peace, and the arrangement of such a peace must be the responsibility of the victors. The only hope of civilization is a peace of forgiveness that leaves no lust for revenge.

The bursts of the 14 and 16 inch guns were terrific in their power but when a battery of three-inch anti-aircraft guns, capable of throwing 13-pound high explosive shells six miles into the air, begin their high pressure "chatter," human nerves are subjected to a steady beating of intense sound.

The guns, electrically controlled fire as fast as the gun can feed shells into the breech and when four are firing at once the effect is like that of a series of heavy blows on the body

Doctors Worried. When the army's newest automatic anti-aircraft gun, firing three-inch shells at the rate of 25 to 30 per minute, goes into action the sound effect is like riveting magnified 100 times.

The sharp, staccato reports of General Duval added that unless the barks of a pack of irritated the new anti-tank guns sound like dogs, also magnified 100 times With four of them barking at once and throwing two-pound shells cal revolution, the only route to victory might be a direct offensive a rifle, the gunners working them are subjected to continuous sharp and intense noise.

Medical officers of the army are concerned about the psychological and physiological effects on men subjected to such sound for any long period of time, "Shell shock" came to be a familiar term during the first World War to describe men who became mentally wounded by intense gunfire without ever being struck by bullets or shrapnel.

Noise Casualties Coming. Today the "fire power" of most is vastly greater than it was is 1914, and the noise will be increased to the same extent. The question now is: "Just how much noise can the human brain absorb without 'cracking' and how powererful must a sound wave be to break the ear drums?"

During one day of irregular firing it became apparent that noise As the war entered its eighth may cause a great many casualties

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.-(P)-The Justice Department suffered another setback in its suit against the American Medical Association when the supreme court refused today to review a lower court de-cision which cleared the association of violating the anti-trust law.

However, the issue is expected to be submitted to the high tribunal again, after further litigation.

The case started when the Justice Department obtained indictments charging that the association, two affiliated organizations and a group of doctors conspired to restrain trade by boycotting.the Group Health Association, Inc. Medical Care.

The latter organization, a co-operative, was formed to provide medical care to government employes on a periodical pre-payment basis. The government charged that the A. M. A. doctors conspir-ed to prevent group health from obtaining qualified physicians, and also to exclude group health phy-sicians from Washington hospitals. The federal district court here, however, ruled that the practice of medicine was a profession, not a trade, and that the Sherman anti-trust law, forbidding trade restraints, was not involved. Instead of appealing the case to the court of appeals for the District of Columbia, the Justice Department took a short cut and asked an immediate supreme court review because "the question is so important." The A. M. A. agreed to this procedure. The supreme court, in turning down the request today, followed its usual custom and gave no rea-

Merits of Case.

Department of Justice officials said today's action "has no bearing on the merits of the case." The supreme court, they said, "only adhered to precedent in refusing to take jurisdiction under such circumstances."

The issue will next be fought out in the court of appeals. Government attorneys said the ultimate decision would "affect the conditions of medical practice throughout the United States" and that they considered the that they considered the case one of the most important of their anti-trust campaign.

The supreme court adjourned until November 6, when it will deliver the first opinions of its cur-rent winter term. Among the lower court decisions it agreed today to review was one dismissing a government suit against the Bank of New York Trust Company for $1,080,399. The government con-tended the Soviets had assigned the money to it in connection with United States recognition of Russia in 1933.

Why This Big Change To the Electric Range?

Every Hour, Every Day Some Georgia Housewife Turns to Electric Cookery

Today—all over America—the change to the modern Electric Range is five times faster than it was only six years ago. Then, one Electric Range was bought to every fifteen of the fuel-type stove that was popular in the "horse and buggy days." Today, that wide margin has narrowed down to a thin

The why and wherefore of this big change is easy to understand. Range-wise women want the extra cleanliness that only an Electric Range can offer, plus its speed, economy and safety! And they will never go back to the kind of stove they used before. They will stick to their Electric Range!

Before you buy any range, consider this all-important point: you buy a range to last for years. It should be a long-time investment; and to get your money's worth out of it, that range must not grow old before its time! It must stay modern not only in conveniences and style, but modern in method as well! Only an Electric Range can do that!

Before you buy your new range, be sure you thoroughly investigate the modern Electric Range. Check its features point for point. Compare it in any way you will. Get your information first-hand, from neighbors or at our conveniently located store. Then, see if an Electric Range isn't your first choice!

In Wife's Life Is Untrue Mate

By Caroline Chatfield.

I'm in love with my husband although I have definite proof that he isn't true to me. When I returned home recently after being away for several weeks I found that a woman had been in my home. My husband has a fiery disposition and there's no talking disposition and there's no talking over anything unpleasant without his getting mad so I didn't say a word to him. I am eating my heart out, trying to put up a front but I need encouragement the worst sort and will go out of my head if somebody doesn't give it to me. P. G.

Not one woman in a hundred can do what you are doing, my dear woman, but it is one hundred per cent right. And here's a true story which will give you the encouragement you crave. Less than a week ago a woman came to see me and told me a tale very similar to yours. Only she didn't have your self-con-trol and the other woman took up where she left off in a tempest of anger.

She, too, loved her husband but she lost sight of that fact in her fury over the mean advantage he had taken of her and she packed her duds and went to her family. After a few agonizing weeks she came to herself, wrote to her hus-band that she had made a fearful mistake, loved him and wanted to patch things up. Matters suited him as they were, he replied, and the door of happiness was shut in her face. Who shut it? Maybe she gave it a shove.

It's almost impossible for the average wife whose cheating husband is in the house with her to visualize what it will mean to have him gone for good. An-gered, humiliated by his trickery she wants to punish him, wreak vengeance on him for what he's done to her. Although he may deserve the worst she can give him, she stands to lose until she's lost all does she real-ize that the second havoc is worse than the first.

And so, when a woman admits that she loves a cheating husband, what is there for her to do but blink her tears, put up a brave front, try to make herself charming and necessary to him, try to wipe out his sense of guilt toward her (that's the last mile that takes her last ounce of resolve), all the while reminding herself that this is the only way to hold him and if she should lose him some other woman will surely find him.

What of her pride? Time to worry about that when her campaign fails—which in all probability will never happen, if she uses her mind instead of otions as weapons for the

Greatest Cross MY DAY How to Improve

By Eleanor Roosevelt. HYDE PARK.—On Friday we had a very pleasant lunch with

Mrs. Lewis Lawes at the warden's house in Sing Sing, and then saw a most interesting exhibition of the physical training given to the guards in the central guard school. His school was, I think, the first established in any state and has been discontinued this year because the state legislature, as an economy measure, cut off the appropriation. There were two photographs in the program which showed guards as they looked in 1880 and as they look today. I think those photographs are the most eloquent justitification of holding a guard school.

It is not just physical fitness which is important, though that in itself is a great thing. A man who feels well and moves easily, is always temperamentally more fitted to do a difficult job. In this particular case drill, calisthenics, jiu jitsu, boxing, wrestling and the defense taught to meet sudden attacks, have an important bearing on the confidence which the guards have in themselves.

A man is much less apt to be a bully and to bolster up his morale by bluster and cruelty, if he is entirely sure of his own physical Of course, in this school the guards were given many other courses, such as psychology and a knowledge of the criminal law and penal code, but, just as in English education, great stress has always been laid on the value of "the playing fields at Eton," so would I lay great stress on the value of this physical development.

The Sing Sing band is extraordinarily good and I enjoyed hearing it play, and was only distressed that I missed seeing the trick dog, which through his cleverness has won the permission of Warden Lawes to remain with his master in prison. I understand that he knows some hundred-odd tricks and when they say "Warden" or "P. K." to him, he runs to his hiding place and closes and locks

It is many years since I have visited Sing Sing and there seems to me to be a great improvement in its physical condition. I am primarily interested, of course, in what we can do to help people in prison rehabilitate themselves. Physical environment and proper treatment by the guards has a great deal to do with the success of both probation and parole later on.

We came up to Hyde Park Saturday, and I grieve to say that the colors are already fading and the leaves are blowing off the trees. Nevertheless, it is good to be in the country.

I told here of the observation cer. Finding the first three or four in a group of school children he examined had enlarged tonsils he so recorded, but as he continued examining the children he found they all had enlarged tonsils, so he erased the marks on the cards and marked them all "normal." The examination had been made at the end of a prolonged rainy period. Months later the doctor examined the same children again, after a period of fine weather. They all had small tonsils now, with one or two exceptions. Such a variation in the size of the tonsils may be explained, I believe, as depending on the intake of sunshine vitamin

An old remedy for simple enlarged tonsils and adenoids, or rather for the morbid condition responsible for the lymphoid hymade by a New York health offi- perplasia, is cod liver oil. Today probably most doctors would as-cribe the benefits of cod liver oil in such cases to the vitamin D and the vitamin A in cod liver oil. Formerly the iodine in cod liver oil was considered at least partly responsible for its remedial value. In many instances of lymphoid hyperplasia (large tonsils and adenoids) iodine or iodides are beneficial. In some of the standard textbooks on practice, pediatrics and therapeutics published 20 or 30 years ago the suggestion appears that "frequent sore throats and "colds" cause chronic enlargement of tonsils and adenoid body; and also the suggestion that the child with enlarged tonsils and adenoids is susceptible to "frequent sore throats and colds." It is a fine old medical custom. to their friends at the clubhouse. Retiring officers of the group are Charles Nunnally, president, Goodloe Yancey and Eugene Ruffner, board members. The late Herbert Porter was vice president of the organization.

WHEN Mrs. 1. C. Wade cele-brates her 86th birthday next Sunday, the occasion will assemble her four children, her seven grandchildren and her two great-grandchildren. The cele-bration will take the form of a family dinner given by her daughters, Mrs. Charles D. Atkinson and Mrs. Virginia Wade Bolden, at their home on Peachtree street, with members of the clan coming from far and near for the auspiclous event.

Mrs. Wade's daughter, Mrs. Ralph W. Davidson, arrived last Saturday from her home in Montreal, Canada, to visit her mother and her sisters. And next Satur-day will witness the arrival of her grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Atkinson Jr., and her great-grandchildren, Dessau and Mary Carlton Atkinson, of Waynesboro, Va.

Completing the interesting family gathering will be Mrs.
Wade's son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Phil S. Wade; her grandchil-dren, Phil Jr., Florence, Betty and Clinton Wade, all of Cornelia; Teresa Wade Atkinson and Wade Atkinson, of Atlanta.

Mrs. Wade, who before her marriage was Miss Jennie Campbell, of New York state, resided in Cornelia until the death of her husband, Colonel I. C. Wade, several years ago. Since that time she has made her home here with her daughters, Mrs. Atkinson and Mrs. Bolden, and has become the center of a wide circle of admiring friends. She and Colonel Wade were among the most prominent and beloved citizens of Cornelia, the former having been numbered among the pioneers in the peach industry of Habersham county. They were religious and cultural leaders of that section of the state, and one of the circles of the First Methodist church there still bears the name of the Jennie Wade Circle. Mrs. Wade's birthday will be the signal for sincere congratulations from a host of friends and acquaintances who have come within the radius of her cheery smile and gracious

A TLANTANS will be interested to learn that that popular former Atlantan, Mrs. Paul Adams, who was Adelaide Howell, is enjoying a cross-country tour these days, as she is accompany-ing her husband on his theatrical Paul, who is a well-known actor, is a member of the "Golden Boy" stock company and at present is appearing in Memphis. The latter part of this week he will appear in Birmingham, but Sally regrets to inform you that Atlanta is not included in the company's schedule. Adelaide's aunt, Mrs. Allan Heidenreich, left last evening for Memphis to meet her niece and namesake and to attend the Memphis perform-ances of "Golden Boy."

When They Build Up

Much of woman's pain and suf-fering, we now know, is unneces-tion and assimilation. It builds up sary.

Women by thousands have proved the truth of this; have found the headaches, nervousness, irritability, restlessness, excitability, those cramp-like intermittent pains or other symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, are so often relieved by the proper use of CARDUI.

This time-tested product is an effective stimulator for lagging tion and assimilation. It builds up and strengthens many weak, rundernourished women; thus relieves most of those painful and embarrassing symptoms from which they suffer periodically.

Many women say CARDUI, taken just before and during "the discomfort of the period 50 years of use and popularity speak eloquently of its unusual merit.— (adv.)

"LIONS TO THEIR ENEMIES

LAMBS TO THEIR FRIENDS"

Routes of march followed by The Atlanta Constitution from 1868 to 1939 have not always been peaceful trails. Battles for the public welfare—ranging from major offensives for local reform to periodic engagements along nation-wide fronts—have high-lighted its forward progress. When The Constitution has unlimbered its artillery for editorial war, it has always acted for public purpose and the common weal. The men who have directed its attacks have been implacable, as foes, when fighting for a heartfelt cause—but they likewise have been distinguished for constancy as friends.

A good roads pioneer, The Constitution helped dig Georgia out of the mud—its fight against political corruption won it the Pulitzer Prize in 1930—its County Government Awards inaugurated in 1937 bespeak its perennial interest in statewide problems—its Plant-to-Prosper campaign begun in 1938 retold its well-known interest in progressive farming—the list is endless, for the interests of its people have always been the interests of The Constitution.

Human understanding has ever been a trait in this newspaper's nature. Today, that characteristic, if possible, is more in evidence than ever. Every phase of public interest gets a hearing—and spirited action. Every wholesome zeal of young or old finds encouragement in its columns. That is why, in a typical Constitution family, domestic tranquillity demands that the man of the house remember that his wife, also, must have "the paper" to read—and she knows the children are waiting for it—and they know to fold and keep it carefully, for even the servants must have their inning with this indispensable family paper!

No wonder, then, that The Constitution, Atlanta's oldest newspaper, is First in home-delivered; First in total city; First in total trading area Circulation. With such a background, with such universal acceptance by the people of this community, the pages of The Constitution provide an unequalled acceptance for the advertiser's message.

Ben Brown and Ken Overlin Battle to Ten-Round Draw

Baseball, which just recently faded out of the sports picture most perfect football machines I for a spell, bounced back vigorously for a day yesterday when ever have seen," today rode high,

Southern league directors held their annual meeting here.

Joe Engel, who invited one and all to follow the "champion," gave directors his formula for winning a

"You see, I took a young fellow who hadn't managed before, taught him my system and we breezed in. The only thing—he was the doggondest guy about taking signals from the roof I ever saw!" (Engel sits on the roof in Chattanooga.)

Engel insisted that Larry Gilbert tell how he lost to Fort Worth in the Dixie series. And Larry promptly brought out an interesting angle.

"I doubt," asserted the popular skipper of the Nash-ville club, "that any other club ever traveled an extra 1,600 miles to get only three base hits."

The Vols, opening in Fort Worth, returned to Nashville and then had to go back to Fort Worth. Ed Greer and Ray Starr allowed 'em only three hits in the last two games. Then, a further Engel suggestion had Frank Lane, noted while, at the same time, Pitt's 21-football official and assistant to Warren Giles, of the Cincinnati 13 beating by Duquesne dropped Reds, get up and explain why the Reds lost to the Yankees. Lane didn't have much to say on that score. Lane will be connected with the new setup at Birmingham. Young Bill McKechnie will head the Barons, now under Cincinnati direction, and Lane will lend a helping hand. The directors did one striking thing in so far as night doubleheaders are concerned. By moving the deadline up to 12:30, instead of midnight, they assured fans of seeing two games every night they go out for a twin bill. The new deadline will eliminate stalling.

As a whole, the meeting was harmonious to a fault. President Trammell Scott said he was certainly delighted with the smoothness of the event.

Old Champion Engel must be slipping. Or maybe he thinks distributed among the other teams pennants grow on bushes and are to be had for the plucking. He was right complacent yesterday.

BREAK FOR THE PLAYERS.

The players got a break under a revision of distribution of receipts as regards the Dixie series. The contending clubs now will divide the pool.

Which is as it should be. Earl Mann was a leader in this fight. Formerly, the play-off clubs shared. Now it will be possible for the boys to really make something out of the series and it will provide added incentive for

Then, too, the new plan for distribution of Shaughnessy play-off receipts is more reasonable. The players still get their $2,000 for winning the pennant and $2,000 for winning the play-off, but the second-division clubs do not share in the Earl Mann was a leader in this fight, too. Atlanta lost money on the play-offs this past season simply because the seconddivision clubs got a cut.

Nothing came of the proposal to increase the player limit from 17 to 18. They'll go as is for another season and also will take four trips around the circuit again. Engel couldn't arrange to open in Atlanta again, but he did get Atlanta for the second opening in Chattanooga on next April 16. The Vols of Nashville open here on April 12.

ONLY NEEDED ONE EYE.

Anywhere baseball men gather, Napoleon Rucker is around the can get there. And so it was vectorday. Napoleon Rucker is around alongside the stadium which nesthere. And so it was yesterday. Nap and Neil Caldwell, Knoxville manager, engaged in a Ferdinand session, and the discussion got around to pitchers who had only one eye. It came up when Rucker allowed he would like to see Tom Sunkel pitching with impaired eyesight in preference to most pitchers with two good optics.

"Yeh." Caldwell responded, "I recall that Bubber Janard did pretty well with one eye."
"That's right," returned Rucker. "And I remember that Pug Cavet wasn't so bad, nor was Tiny Osborne or Tom Appleton. They all had pretty good control."

Caldwell and Rucker agreed that a one-eyed Sunkel is better than no Sunkel at all.

"KELLEY'S POISON IVY"-BOOTH.

Albie Booth, Yale's former "Little Boy Blue," replies to Larry Kelley's charges that coaches play injured men in the lvy league in this week's issue of Look. He brands Kelley's charges as untrue.

"I was stunned by Larry Kelley's attack on the Ivy league," Booth, captain of the 1931 Yale team, declared.

He said his astonishment came on two counts: "Kelley's unfounded charges, which I am convinced have no basis of truth, and his utterly colossal nerve." Kelley, captain of Yale's 1936 team, had accused his alma mater and other Ivy league schools of risking players' health to win games.

"In my own career on Yale teams for three years," continued Booth, "I never saw a man allowed to play when physically unfit. As a matter of fact, the coaches kept boys out of games and gambled on defeat rather than submit them to risk of permanent injury. I know, however, that Mr. Kelley did some very peculiar things while playing football at Yale."

Describing one of the "peculiar" things, Booth said: "In a 1936 practice, after a pile-up, Kelley lay on the field moaning. He was carried off, but before reaching the dressing room, he leaped off the stretcher, saying, 'Just a gag; I'll do my playing on Saturday." Booth also praised Coach Ducky Pond, saying Kelley's charges about injured players being used to be utterly

LANE LIKES ALEX'S IDEA.

Frank Lane, previously noted as being at the baseball meeting yesterday, said he thought Coach Bill Alexander's idea about returning to the old rules on punts was good. Alex's story was printed in The Constitution Sunday.

"I don't see why they don't allow the kicking team to recover. Don't know whether they ought to be allowed to run with the ball after they recover it. Somedy might get hurt.

"But just think how it would open things up if a team had o send two men back for protection on kicks. It would certainly open up the defense and give leeway for a lot of fancy football."

Grid Writers Put Vols 1st In the Nation

Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State Trail in Order.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 .- (AP)-Tennessee's Volunteers, hailed by Jock Sutherland as "one of the wide and handsome into first place in the Associated Press national ranking poll.

A week ago, in the first poll, the experts apparently were with-holding final decision on Tennessee until its game with Alabama, But the Vols' 21-0 defeat of the Crimson Tide obviously furnished the clincher, for 83 of this week's 118 ballots gave first place to Ten-nessee, while the southern eleven was ranged second on 15 others, and third on eight more.

That gave the Vols, unbeaten in 17 straight games, a total of 1,077 points out of a possible 1,180 for one of the biggest landslides in the history of the poll. It also boosted them up from fifth place past Nothe Panthers from the lead down into 18th place.

Sutherland told today's session of the Metropolitan Football Writers' Association that he didn't think there was a team in the country that even could score on Tennessee, let alone beat them. If there is any team that could, the Dame, for they kept the Irish, winners of four major games this sea-son, in second place with 841 points.

All of the 25 first-place votes in the top ten. Notre Dame got 12; Michigan, up from sixth place to third, got 8; Ohio State, moved from tenth to fourth, 5; Texas A & M., from ninth to fifth, 6; Oklahoma, dropped from third to sixth, 2; Cornell, from 12th to seventh, 1, and Tulane, down from fourth to ninth, 1. Southern California won eighth place and Nebraska tenth without a first-place vote. 'Vols One of Greatest Teams of All Time

So Declares Jock Sutherland; Doubts If Any Team Can Score on Tennessee.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY. NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(UP)—Major Bob Neyland, gather your Tennessee football players around you and listen to what Dr. John Bain Sutherland, the noted football authority and former Pittsburgh coach, has to say about you and the Volunteers.

Alan Yates Sinks Second Hole-in-One

Alan Yates' many practice rounds on the No. 1 East Lake course has produced results, that is accuracy if for nothing else. Monday afternoon while playing a nine-hole round Alan sank a tee shot on the No. 2 green for an ace. He was playing with Woods Staton and William Johnson and had a 35, one under par, for the round.

It was Alan's second ace, the first coming several years ago in a city junior tournament

"After seeing the Tennessee-Alabama football game in Knoxville Saturday," Dr. Sutherland said at today's Football Writers' luncheon, "I'm quite certain I don't belong in this coaching game. Major Neyland's job at Tennessee exceeds anything I've ever seen before, I quite frankly look upon the Tennessee team which beat Alabama, 21-0, as one of the most perfect teams I've ever seen in all my football expe-rience."

Dr. Sutherland, who is spending this fall in the press boxes as a critic for a Pittsburgh paper, admitted that before the Tennessee-Alabama game he favored the Crimson Tide on the basis of its 7-6 triumph over Fordham. ONE OF GREATEST.

"But before long I realized I was seeing one of the greatest teams of all time in action," said KENNY LASALLE BURROWS INTO MEXICAN FOE Dr. Sutherland. "There were no flaws in the Tennessee team on either offense or defense. But I'd say that Tennessee was a trifle more superior on the defense than on the attack. The Tennessee ends are good but the tackles are better. But their tackles aren't as good as their guards and their guards are inferior to their sec-ondary defense men."

Tennessee's ability to follow the ball drew high praise from the former Pitt coach who built several national championship outfits himself.

"I never saw any team more sensitive to the ball than Tennes-see's," said Sutherland. "Where-ever the ball was that's where you'd find those Tennessee ball

57-YARD RUN.

Praising Johnny Butler's 57-yard touchdown run as one of the est exhibition of broken field running he had even seen, Dr. Sutherland said that it looked to him as if every man on the Ala-bama team had a chance to stop the Tennessee sophomore in nis amazing sprint. Asked if he thought any team had a chance to defeat Tennes-see, Dr. Sutherland's crisp answer was "I doubt if any team can score on Tennessee."

Pressed further, Dr. Suther-land was asked if he thought any of his great Pitt teams could have upset Tennessee. "We might if Tennessee let us recover a fumble in the zone," he replied.

Brown Lands Hardest Punches in Fast Fight; No Knockdowns.

By JACK TROY.

In Atlanta's finest fight attraction in years, Ben Brown, fifthranking middleweight, and Ken Overlin, of Richmond, who ranks second in the world, fought to a popular draw before more than 3,000 fans last night at Warren arena.

When Referee Tom McCarthy, rendering the decision, raised the hands of both fighters, the maof the crowd voiced approval.

Chris Dundee, Overlin's manager, paid Brown tribute. "He cer-tainly is a greatly improved fighter." Overlin defeated Brown handily in 1936.

The return fight last night was typical of Brown's record. He has never lost a return fight. WINS EVERY ROUND.

The special attraction of 10 rounds between Kenny LaSalle, fifth-ranking welterweight, and Jose Estrada, champion of old Mexico, found LaSalle a winner in every round.

At last they found "the little man who wasn't there." The description definitely fits LaSalle, who was hit in the body about twice by the squatty Mexican.

Never did a glove find his head.

LaSalle also proved he can punch. He had the Mexican bleeding from the mouth from the sixth round on. The Estrada punches which landed on the will o' the wisp that was LaSalle were as rare as a British casualty announced by Great Britain's war office. Ears Whitworth, Georgia line coach, turned to Head Coach Wallace Butts at the end of the fight and said, "Fighting that LaSalle would be a lot like taking on Ten-

FINER FIGHT.

The Brown-Overlin draw was a finer fight, by far, than either of the Brown-Yarosz battles at Ponce de Leon.

Brown, fighting a bit more cautiously than in the last Yarosz fight, nevertheless was a leader in the early rounds. Overlin came back with stout body punches and led the middle rounds. Overlin probably had an edge going into the eighth. He hurt Ben with a resounding attack to head and oody in the seventh.

Brown promptly slowed Overlin perceptibly in the eighth when he connected with a smashing right to the head. Brown was the ag-gressor in the ninth and might have won it on merit. Overlin punched low and Brown was warded the round by virtue of the

A GOOD DRAW.

It was a good draw. Apparently Overlin's power was in his right but he continually circled to the right. Brown, who hits well with either hand, was not using his right as in the last Yarosz fight.

But he landed with one telling one and it enabled him to earn a draw. That was the right which took a lot of steam out of Overlin in the eighth round. The fight sort of turned right there.

As is his customary style, Brown was the aggressor through most of the fight. He forced the fight-ing and seldom gave ground. Overlin mixed it freely with the At-lanta bomber from close range but Continued on Second Sports Page.

Ruffing Fifth; Emil Leonard Polls 71 Points for Sixth Place.

By EARL HILLIGAN.
CHICAGO, Oct. 24—(P)—Joe
Di Maggio, whose big bat earned him the circuit's batting championship and helped propel the New York Yankees to a fourth straight world title, today was voted the most valuable player in the American league during the

The 24-year-old Yankee center fielder, who thus wins a trophy from the Sporting News, received a total of 280 out of a possible 336 points in balloting by a committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Di Maggio, who hit .381 to win the American league batting title, was given 15 first-place votes of the 24-member committee placing him second, 3 third, 1 fourth and 2 fifth. Choices for second place through tenth were rated from nine points each down to one

The naming of Di Maggio as the circuit's most valuable player caps the finest season the brilliant Italian-American star has enjoyed since he came up with the Yanks in 1936. In that year he hit .323 and followed with averages of .346 and .324, respectively, in 1937 and 1938. This past season he hammered out 30 homers and drove in 126 runs.

Jimmy Foxx, Boston first base man, who won the valuable player award for a third time last year, captured second place in the 1939 balloting. He received a total of 170 points, a testimonial to a fine season in which illness kept him out of action for a long period. Although he received only one first-place ballot, two scribes placed him second and 11 made him their third-place choice. Only one writer failed to place the Bos-ton star.

Bob Feller, Cleveland's young pitching star, who won 24 games, was third with 155 points. Fourth place went to Ted Williams, the Boston freshman outfielder, who led the league in runs batted in, driving home 142. Williams re-ceived 126 points, although he did not get any first-place votes, as Feller drew three. Charley Ruffing, Yank pitcher who won 21 games, also failed to get first place mention but piled up 116 points for fifth place, 6 points ahead of Bill Dickey, the Yankees' star catcher, who was first choice of three committeemen but was unplaced by 11 others. The other two to receive first place consideration were Pitcher Emil Leonard, of Washington, who won 20 games for a sixth-place team, and Mike Kreevich, Chioutfielder. Dick McGowen, Auburn's blackhaired triple-threat back, will probably be the only kicker the Jackets will meet all season that can hold his own with Hawk Cavette and Charlie Sanders. Dick's average for the season is over 45 yards and suffered last Saturday because of out-of-bounds boots.

Rufus Deal, erstwhile tackle, is also a fine punter and will team with McGowen against Tech's two stars.

Incidentally, Deal may offer the Jacket line its sternest defensive test of the season. A big 200-pounder, the Tiger fullback runs for keeps and has shown great improvement in recent games. He is also a fine defensive player, tackling viciously from his line
Howell Hollis, who saw New York upset Carnegie Tech Saturday in one of the nation's biggest gridfrom surprises, brought back news that definitely was not cheering to the Georgia coaches.

"They have power, speed and deception and it is the opinion of a lot of eastern experts that they are just about the best in that section," Coach Hollis said.

North Carolina, though outplayed, beat the Violets, 14 to 7, in the only game they have lost this season.

Georgia will probably stick to the same boys who have started the last two games although Green Keltner and Tommy Malone, both sophomores, have good chances of breaking into the starting lineup at ends. Malone and John Stegeman did most of the work at right of the Georgia coaches.

Roy McArthur's Bee team were taught Meagher's Notre Dame plays and will be given a chance to use them in today's first scrim-mage of the week.

The Techs cannot afford to take Auburn lightly just because Man-hattan upset the Tigers last week. The Jaspers have a good football team, much better than their record shows.

Against Duquesne, they made over 20 first downs in losing, 7-0, while the Dukes handed Pittsburgh her only loss of the season. Auburn probably has a better team than Manhattan and should play a fine game against the Jackets. Anyway, Meagher is expecting his team to put up a game fight. It always does.

Rita sighed and tucked a foot ore securely into the stirrup. Perhaps she and Selia would be in town for the wedding. Selia was planning trips all the time, then not taking them. One day it would be Paris, the next the San Francisco or the New York fair next she had decided on La Jolla as a perfect retreat for a few Sometime she would actually start for somewhere, and her secretary would have to be taken along—followed by Roger, naturally. But the high-strung Roger was always good company He thought of so many lively things to do there wasn't much time for blues. That much she could thank him for, luckily.

Rita sent her mount galloping ead through the clean fresh breeze coming in from the ocean. Roger's horse followed close behind, and the sound of flying hoofs on hard-packed earth, the sheer joy of floating along this grass-bordered path in the middle of the cars skimming by on both sides of er, sent high courage through

I hope I don't have to make him feel discouraged too long—hope he finds somebody else."

On the Santa Monica beach they breakfasted on fresh shrimp and white fish, even enjoying the French fried potatoes and zucchini saute, a rarity with them for so early a meal. They sat at a table under a numble beach umbrella er a purple beach umbrella side a crude frame building d. The tangy salt air had giver m ravenous appetites, and de the simple meal like a feast.

Now for a brief few minutes.
Rita could put aside the thought of Tom and all perplexities concerning him. Her black habit and hat set off the pinkness of her aniible little-girl look in her wide lovely Beverly Hills home of the blue eyes that Roger Brewster Brewsters, surrounded by every found himself unable to resist. He hitched himself forward in servants could think of, Rita behis chair, leaned toward her over gan to wonder if, after all, this

Traders Shelve European Affair as Buying Motive.

Daily Stock Summary.

Dow-Jones Averages.

What Stocks Did.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 .- (AP)-Stock market traders today just about shelved the war as a buying influence and price changes were narrowly irregular in virtually all departments.

Best performers included a few utilities, motor trucks, amuse-ments, mail orders and specialties. Steels, motors, rails, coppers and rubbers generally finished and rubbers generally fractions to a point or so lower. The Associated Press average of 60 issues was unchanged at 53.4. The stand-off character of the proceedings was shown by the fact 307 individual stocks were up, 300 down and 234 ended at Saturday's final quotations. Dealings slackened after a fairly lively first hour when blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares were traded. At that, the turnover for shares compared with 786,880 last Boardrooms were beginning to term the overseas conflict as 'queer to say the least" and many who lately have been war-boom conscious started to search for other market factors.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK. Oct. 23.—The cottonseed oil futures market turned in one of the smallest score cards for sales in months today. Total dealings amounted to only 14 contracts.

The market dropped 6 to 7 points in line with weakness in hogs and lard. Most traders were content to wait for Europe to furnish another price cue.

December ended 6.78 bid, March 6.98, May 7.06

Scattered sales of crude oil were reported in the valley at 534c. The southeast and valley both bid that at the finish and Texas 5.50@5.70.

Strength of Federal Issues Firms Prime Investment Division. Daily Bond Averages.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 .- (A)-The prime investment division of the bond market attracted a moderate following today on the strength of another forward push in U. S. Governments.

Despite a light turnover most Federals were on firm ground from the start and at the close gains averaged about 1-16 of a point. Treasury 4 1-4s of 1947-52 moved up 15-16 on a few trades.

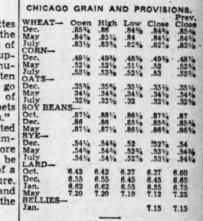

Low yield loans in best demand and up fractions or better includ-ed Bethlehem Steel 3 1-2s at 111, American Telephone 3 1-4s of '66 at 104 5-8, Commonwealth Edison Convertible 3 1-2s at 120 1-2, Consolidated Oil 3 1-2s at 103, Standard Oil of New Jersey 2 3-4s at 102 and Shell Union 2 1-2s at Another influence making for a crisper demand for the top flight isues was rising confidence in un-derwriting circles that the market had attained sufficient recovery from the recent war selling to warrant resumption of large scale corporate financing. In this connection it was reported coming weeks would see the marketing of some sizable new bond issues.

Five Babies Die in Hospital

Nursery.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Oct. 23.

(P)—Five unchristened infants died today after steam, escaping from a radiator valve, filled their nursery in the Perth Amboy hospital.

Bar silver 38%c. up % of a cent.

Acting Police Chief Frank Seiboth said the valve had been repaired with adhesive tape.

Six infants occupied the nursery. Four died in the nursery. The fifth victim, six-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hatarick.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(P)— Nearby cotton future deliveries displayed the most vigor today when hedging sales increased. This was offset by sustained demand from trade interests. Closing prices were 6 points lower to 4 higher.

Transfering of hedges from near months forward accounted for a good portion of the activity. Most traders appeared none too anxious the claims and counter claims arising from hostilities abroad. The same time textile news offered little to warrant new market action.

Demand from Bombay and Liverpool dried up after the opening flurry was satisfied and from then on trading was largely a routine affair. Exports Sturday 28,437 bales; season so far 1,493,937. Port receipts Saturday 45,427; port stocks 2,771,652.

SHE, NOT HUSBAND KILLED MRS. SIKES

Wife, Son, Others Plead With Rivers for Con-

Governor Rivers listened yesterday to Mrs. William B. Ay- lege at Dahlonega. cock's story that she, not her husband, slew Martha Sikes and said it left him with a "baffling case"

Mrs. Aycock, her handsome, 18ear-old son, William B. Aycock , and others pleaded with the Governor for five hours to com-mute to life imprisonment the the 1938 Savannah slaying.
Rivers promised his decision by the end of the week "if possible," commenting that some of the evince was conflicting and "it is a confusing proposition with many baffling circumstances."

Mrs. Aycock said the Sikes woman had broken up her home and she went to the woman's flat the night of May 12, 1938, intend-ing to kill both Mrs. Sikes and her husband, an industrial plant

She testified Mrs. Sikes told her that her husband was not there and she had better leave "or the undertaker will take you away. With that, she continued, she

She said Mrs. Sikes fell partly on a shirt her husband had left in the apartment, breaking her eyeglasses as she fell. Mrs. Aycock crammed the shirt and one of the enses into a laundry bag, she said, intending to remove the garment "it would be a perfect crime." Looking up, she said, she saw a ramed photograph of her husband in the room and forgot about the shirt, putting the picture into her
